& BUSINESS ADVISERS

Find your perfect fit

Every business is different. Your circumstances are unique and your requirements change as your organisation grows. As business owners ourselves that's something we relate to, which is why, at Wilkins Kennedy, we focus on you. That means understanding you: what motivates you; what you want to achieve; what you need from us and how you like to work.

It's about knowing what you need and being there to deliver the right solution at the right time; it's about helping you meet your responsibilities and realise your ambitions. At Wilkins Kennedy – we're in step with your needs.

Supporting your plans

You want realistic and commercially sensible advice that will help you build the value of your business. We have a reputation for delivering imaginative solutions, anticipating needs and providing a quick response.

Successful partnerships are forged over time. While we never underestimate the importance of delivering on routine services, we always think ahead to your future aims. We work with you to develop coherent strategies and shape your business so that it remains competitive. We strive to add value by helping you address underperforming areas in your business and identify new opportunities for growth.

The size of your business, the way it is structured and its stage of development will affect the level of support you need. Our services and approach are flexible and tailored to suit your evolving requirements.

Our passion to succeed at what we do drives our determination to help you succeed at what you do. Whether it's your business ambitions or personal goals we make sure that you are best placed to achieve them.

Imaginative; Supportive; Passionate.

It's personal

For more than 125 years we have provided audit, accounting and taxation advice to businesses and their owners.

As you would expect of a Top 30 firm, we offer a depth of expertise and a broad range of services. More unusually, we still provide value for money and retain local relevance

In addition to working with owner-managed businesses, we have a track record in advising several specialist industry sectors.

So although our clients represent a diverse range of organisations, large and small, including national and international corporates, charitable organisations, family owned companies, partnerships and high networth individuals, they have in common phenomenal potential, talent and tenacity. You take your business personally and so do we.

A team you can rely on

You are full of ideas, used to hard work but short on time. You need an adviser you can count on whenever and wherever you are.

We believe in fostering regular face-to-face contact and take the time to listen. This way, we are able to understand you and your organisation which means that we can develop solutions that meet your needs.

Our staff are self-starters who thrive on responsibility and have a sound head for business, but who also appreciate the importance of accountability. That's why we not only train them to be excellent accountants and business advisers but teach them the importance of providing consistently exceptional service.

Our promise to you is simple: personal service, regular partner contact, prompt response and practical proactive advice – it's what makes us a team you can rely on.

Individual; Flexible; Reliable.

Accountants in step with your needs

Perhaps you're looking for polished professionalism. You demand value and uncompromising quality service.

Innovation could be the key to your success. So you'll need an adviser who isn't afraid to be bold.

It could be that a practical approach is what you're after. You want someone with stamina and good sense, to support you.

When you are driven by performance you need a partner you can trust implicitly and who will deliver unfailingly.

We don't believe that one size fits all.

If you're looking for advisers who understand you, can keep pace with your changing needs and offer a team you can rely on. Try us for size.
